

BLOODY DISGUSTING

“Van Helsing” Season 2 #SDCC Trailer Gets Extra Bloody

by John Squires July 20, 2017

Season 2 arrives on Syfy this coming Fall.

A female descendant of the legendary Abraham Van Helsing is at the center of Syfy's “Van Helsing,” which enjoyed a successful first season last year. Admittedly, I haven't yet gotten the chance to dive in (let's be real, there is almost TOO MUCH horror TV right now... a good problem to have), but I gotta say, this Season 2 trailer makes the show look like a blast.

Variety got their hands on the trailer out of Comic-Con tonight, and it plays out more like a badass music video than anything else. No dialogue. Just blood-soaked action.

The series follows Vanessa Van Helsing, a descendant of the legendary line of vampire hunters. The country has been turned into a wasteland after volcanic ash has left the sky darkened, allowing vampires to rise to power. Van Helsing awakens from a three-year coma to discover that she's not only immune to the vampires, but also has the ability to make them human again.

Jonathan Scarfe, Christopher Heyerdahl, Paul Johansson, David Cubbit and Vincent Gale star alongside Kelly Overton as Vanessa Van Helsing.

Neil LaBute is the showrunner.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rhAUMBrRo2Y>