

HELLNOTES

Syfy's 'Van Helsing' To Premiere September 23rd!

by Hellnotes | Sep 19, 2016

After a catastrophic volcano eruption, the last remaining underground vampires rise up through a dark, ash-filled sky to overtake America. Vanessa Van Helsing (Kelly Overton, "True Blood"), a descendant of the legendary line of vampire hunters, awakens from a three-year coma to discover that she's not only immune to the bloodthirsty predators – but has the ability to turn them human again. With this "cure" threatening the vampire's existence and a target on her back, can Vanessa save humanity?

VAN HELSING also stars Jonathan Scarfe (“Hell on Wheels”) as Axel, Christopher Heyerdahl (“Sanctuary,” “True Blood”) as Sam, Paul Johansson (“One Tree Hill”) as Dimitri, David Cubbit (“Medium”) as John, and Vincent Gale (“Bates Motel”) as Flesh.

This re-imagination of the timeless “Dracula” tale is produced by Nomadic Pictures, which also serves as the studio. Neil LaBute (“In the Company of Men”) is the showrunner, writer and will also executive produce with Nomadic Pictures’ Chad Oakes and Mike Frislev (“Fargo,” “Hell On Wheels”), Simon Barry (“Continuum”), Dynamic Television’s Daniel March (“Trapped”), Industry Works’ Evan Tyler (“American Mary”), as well as Echo Lake Entertainment’s Dave Brown and Zadoc Angell (“Sons of Anarchy”).

Airing on Syfy Fridays at 10/9c, the series will kick-off on September 23 with a special two-hour, double episode premiere.